On Tuesday, February 24, Mr. William Cooper, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Margaret Marie Hunter, of Salt Lake City, Utah, were joined in holy wedlock. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock in the evening, at the home of a sister of the groom, Mrs. George S. Fitt, 2113 Medary Avenue, Germantown, and was performed by the Rev. C. O. Dautzer, Pastor of All Souls' Church for the Deaf, Philadelphia.

The couple will make their home in Washington, D. C., where the groom has a lucrative position under the Government. Mr. Cooper, who is a native of this city, has the best wishes of his many friends here.

A Valentine Party was given by Mr. Joseph V. Donohue, at his home, on North 22d Street, on Friday evening, February 13th. The evening was most pleasantly passed in playing games and dancing. Prizes were awarded to Misses Golden and Nickel and Mr. Roach. Later in the evening the guests were regaled with refreshments. Those who attended the party were the Misses Alice, Margaret and Florence Donohue, Loretta Haines, Mary Simpson, Edythe Z. and Hettie Dunner, Ellen Orberg, Helen R. Nickel, Ann McBride, Louisa Mueller, Mary Golden, and Messrs. Morris Purviance, of Springfield, Ill., Roselle Ackerman, of Rochester, N. Y., John A. Roach, William Rothermund, Albert Wolf, Hugh Cusack, Jas. D. Jennings, Henry J. Pulver, Axel Orberg, Sylvan Stern, Donald Flenner, Frank Dugan and Robert Bennett.

The attention of the Episcopal Deaf is called to the fact that the date of the annual confirmation service All Souls' Church for the Deaf, which had been announced as March 14th, has been changed to the Sunday after Easter, April 11th, because Bishop Rhinelander has been ordered South by his doctor, hence the necessity of the change. With the added time in which to make preparation for receiving the rite, it is hoped that a larger class can be presented to the Bishop.

Another thing is that the Bishop has asked that All Souls' take up a collection in the near future for the starving and sick in the near East. Thousands and thousands of orphan children of tender age are left in the wake of the war. Some of these little boys and girls have turned half wild, and are living by feeding on offal and other refuse, and sleeping in caves and other places. They are clad in rags, or entirely naked. We, as Christians, have a duty to perform in aiding these poor destitute people, for the starving and homeless include the aged as well as the young, women as well as men.

The following clipping from the Philadelphia Record, of February 9th, seems so interesting that we present it here:—

Restoring by an operation the hearing of a woman totally deaf for 23 years, has aroused widespread interest among the surgeons of the city. The patient, who is 28 years old, suffered from perforated eardrums as a result of scarlet fever in childhood, and the operation was decided upon and performed by Dr. Mary Davis Ridgway, chief surgeon at Providence General Hospital, No. 112 West Tulpehocken Street, Germantown, who removed a submerged fibroid tonsil that was closing up the eustachian tubes. The hearing of the young woman is now very nearly normal.

Louis Reese, father of Mrs. Charles H. Paxton, died suddenly in McKeesport, Pa., last Wednesday, February 18th, and in consequence Mr. and Mrs. Paxton left for Lonsdale, Md., the next day to attend the funeral. Further details are lacking. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Paxton.

An entertainment consisting of comedies of every day life was presented at All Souls' Parish House, under the auspices of the Pastoral Aid Society on Saturday evening, February 21st. In spite of the misericord weather of the afternoon and evening, the attendance was very large and the affair successful. Proceeds will be for the Coal Fund. This affair happened to come early in Lent, because no convenient date could be found before Lent.

Mr. F. E. Lander, who is general manager of the deaf salesmen for the S. J. Anstey Co., Inc., fiscal agents for the Paul Delaney Co., manufacturers food products at Brockton, N. Y., addressed a gathering of deaf people at the Grand Fraternity Building on Sunday evening, February 22d. We understood that his talk was on the repeal in Pennsylvania which prohibits the deaf from driving motor vehicles.

Mr. Roselle Ackerman, of Rochester, N. Y., a salesman under Mr. Lander, noticed above, has been in Philadelphia since the first week in February, and he told us today (February 22d), that he expects to remain here two weeks longer. Mr. D. Turrill, another salesman, came here the same time as Mr. Ackerman did, but left last week for Akron, O., from where he will return to Philadelphia.

The engagement of Mr. Joel L. Schwarz to Miss Cecelia H. Weber, of this city, has been announced.

The following dates have been engaged for social entertainments at the Grand Fraternity Building by St. Cecilia Council No. 3, Ladies of De l'Epee—March 27, May 22, June 26, September 11 or 25, October 9, November 12, and December 11.

Mr. Barton Senenig, of the Mt. Airy School, lectured before Beth Israel Association for the Deaf on Sunday, February 15th last. He spoke on the life of Abraham Lincoln and other topics.

The Rev. Mr. Dautzer held services in Doylestown, Pa., and Trenton, N. J., on Sunday, 22d inst., while the three lay-readers conducted the service at All Souls'.

Mrs. Wm. H. Lipsett is slowly recovering from an attack of influenza. Mr. Lipsett, who met with an accident at work and injured a foot recently, is about again.

Little Journeys about Philadelphia

THE FIRST ANNUAL BALL OF THE SILENT ATHLETIC CLUB

When the Silent Athletic Club got its back up, several weeks ago, and announced to a surprised world it was to give a ball, there was something of a flutter among the social butterflies of fair Philly. The young ladies promptly scampered off to prepare silks, seductive bits of daintiness, sometimes called ball gowns, with which to bowl over every gay Lothario whose hopeless footsteps should lead him within the magic circle of their spell. As for the fox trotting young bachelors, of whom the city has more than its fair share—they simply fell over one another in their efforts to attach unto themselves for the evening the dainty and the fair among the opposite sex. The effect produced upon the writer, however, was a feeling of mild curiosity. He wondered if the members of the infant athletic organization could put the ball across. That was the big question.

Apologies of the weaker vessel, woman, Mr. R. Kipling arises to remark that:—

"You never can tell till you've tried 'em,
And then you are like to be wrong."

We shall not risk our hide in defence of the remark—at least, not along its original line. This is Leap Year. Besides, our only excuse for fleching the quotation and inserting it herein, is to say that it is apt when applied to newly formed clubs. A new club is an untried animal. It occupies the unenviable predicament of a swain, who has screwed up his courage to the popping point. He does know—it is not given mortal man to know—whether the battle will end in an encoircling movement, followed by unconditional surrender, or whether he will have to haul off his heavy artillery and commence an assault upon some other fortress. A new club is like that. No one can foresee in advance whether it will become a success, or turn out an almost total loss.

It was this delightful element of uncertainty that induced us to make a "little journey" to the First Annual Ball of Philadelphia Silent Athletic Club, held at Turngemünde Hall, on the evening of February 11th. We wanted to see what the club had to deliver. The prospect of fox-trotting and antelopeing with certain charming young ladies may or may not have influenced us to take our "little journey." That is beside the point. Primarily, we went to see if the new club had any kick in it.

The great adventure commenced with a surprise. Having banged and jolted our way up to Germantown in one of the P. R. T.'s parlor cars de luxe, which, under the most favorable circumstances can actually make about a mile an hour, we found her all dressed up and waiting for us. This was amazing. It simply is against the rules, as any swain used to waiting from one to three hours for his lady fair will heatedly asseverate. Hence in our rattling ride back to the city we were beset with misgivings. What was coming next?

Our entry upon the festive scene was planned to be secretive. We wanted to sneak in and jot down our observations without being detected in the act. So we assayed to tip toe up the stairs behind barrage afforded by the broad back of John A. Roach, the club's genial president. It was a noble effort, but could not be done. For we were no sooner within grabbing distance than we were seized by the Ball Committee, "frisked" of our superfluous wearing apparel and conducted upon the dancing floor, which was already alive with twinkling couples. The scene seemed, with its spots of brilliant light and color, like some dazzling past-impressionistic painting. It reminded us forcibly of one of the student "hops" at Gallaudet College.

It seemed as if the deaf of the Quaker City had turned out en masse. Everywhere were moving toes and fingers, and the composite picture thus produced was bewildering. The young ladies, in their ball gowns, looked charming. They glowed in the color of the rainbow, and shone with the sheen of silk and satin. Among the young men, a more than ordinary number of spike tail coats and low-neck vests were to be observed.

A count showed the attendance to be over a hundred and fifty. This number might have been doubled, were it not for the fact that the ball was a mid week affair, and also that the city had been visited by a healthy young blizzard, a couple days previous, with the consequent tangle in transportation facilities.

Due to the excellent arrangements that had been made by the committee, of which, more anon, the Ball proceeded smoothly. If there was anybody present who did not enjoy himself, we failed to discover his hiding place. The hall was large and beautifully decorated. A pretty dance card was printed for the occasion, in which there were numbered dances, consisting of waltzes, fox-trots and one-steps. Music was furnished by Prof. McGhee's orchestra. The fun continued well into the morning, and we rolled home and to bed just in time to escape the accusing glance of the milkman.

Allow us to introduce: Ball Committee—George H. King, Chairman; William E. V. Brogan, James L. Jennings, George T. Sanders, William E. Rothermund, Israel Steer, Joseph Mayer; Floor Committee—William E. Rothermund, Chairman, Albert W. Wolf, William E. V. Brogan.

A "morning after" head adds nothing to the clarity of our thoughts. In fact, our ideas are somewhat hazy. However, we are sure of one thing—they have "up and done it." We gravely doubt the correctness of our grammar as indicated in the above sentence. We dare say Puritans of language will hotly contest the matter with us. But we have no doubts about the fact. Was the ball a success? Will say so! By a mile! We want to get up on our hind legs and tell it to the world.

The Philadelphia Silent Athletic Club has come to stay. There can be no doubt about that. It fills a real need and has the support of the "solid" element among the silent population of the Quaker City. Its membership, now well over the hundred mark, is growing by leaps and bounds. It has the vigor of a young organization, with the strength and soundness which comes from having capable managers at the helm. If present developments indicate any thing, the organization will soon hold the high place in social and athletic matters in the city of Billy Penn, as is held by similar clubs in Chicago and elsewhere.

OMAHA.

When nineteen nineteen said its farewell, Nineteen twenty came in for a spell. For three long years, the maids, the dears, Have had no chance for those in pants Had, by custom's law, the tale to tell.

If a winsome lass the question pops, Don't go running around for the cops, But stand your ground, with reason sound. "Tis sudden," say, just for delay, With "Yes, my dear," her pay it stops.

The Frats of the Omaha Division, No. 32, held their regular February meeting, Saturday night, the 14th, with an attendance of some thirty-eight members, among whom was William Hartz, of Lincoln, Neb. It was perhaps the longest meeting in the history of the division, lasting till well past midnight. Fourteen members were initiated into the mysteries of the order. The initiation committee, which consisted of Messrs. W. H. Rother, Chairman, James R. Jelinek and Arthur G. Nelson, were given a vote of thanks and appreciation for the very satisfactory manner in which they handled the affair. It was decided to hold initiations hereafter every three months, to avoid too many at a time. Smokes were passed around by Mr. John M. O'Brien in behalf of Mr. James Matrone, who took a matrimonial plunge in January. He was married to Miss Bessie Brahm, of Grand Island, Neb. Thanks James, old top, and our hearty congratulations to you and your bride. After this, Mr. James R. Jelinek, as chairman, of the March Committee, announced that the Frats would give a Public Opinion Meeting March 6th. The place and program in full will be given in my next letter. Admission is thirty-five cents, and is urged that every one come, as we understand it will be one of the best programs ever given here.

Mrs. Ota C. Blankenship left for Lincoln, Neb., Friday, the 13th, to spend the week-end at home with her folks.

Mr. Jas. R. Jelinek spent Sunday, the 15th, at Plattsmouth, Neb., with his folks, but was disappointed to find several of his relatives convalescing from slight attacks of the "flu."

Mr. Harold Newman, of Akron, O., who came home to attend the funeral of his mother at Laurel, Neb., stopped in Omaha on his way back, and his many friends were glad to see him. He has taken on added dignity since he joined the ranks of the benedictines, January 14th.

We have just learned the news of Mr. J. W. Barrett's good fortune, on arriving in Los Angeles, California. He secured a lucrative position in one of the largest lumber companies there, through the courteous assistance of Mr. Howe W. Phelps. We are glad to hear it, although we regret that he will not return to Council Bluffs, Ia.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

It seems that the warning given the fellow calling himself Mr. Jones and hailing from Kentucky, in regards to his peddling the Manual Alphabet cards in Dallas, was not understood, for one day last week he was reported back at work again, and as the Dallas Deaf Colony does not intend to stand for any such nonsense, they have started a movement to have an Ordinance passed making it a punishable offense. The following article appears in this morning Dallas News:

DEAF OF DALLAS WANT ORDINANCE TO REGULATE BEGGING IN CITY.

Deaf persons of Dallas have announced their intention of urging the passage of an ordinance prohibiting begging in Dallas by persons who pretend to be deaf and seek financial assistance.

"In an open letter to the people of Dallas," it is set out that there are more than 100 deaf people in Dallas who are in favor of this.

It is pointed out that the National Association of the Deaf has succeeded in making it against the law to pose as deaf, or even for a deaf man to beg for a living in most of the States. At the convention of the Texas School for the Deaf, held in Austin last December, resolutions were adopted asking for a law of the same sort for Texas.

If we succeed in having the ordinance passed, you can bet your last shoe string that we will see that it is enforced to the last word, and pretty soon Dallas is going to be a hot place for any man, deaf or not, who persists in trying to make the world give him a living without any effort on his part.

We have just received the last issue of the Silent Worker, and note with a feeling of gratification that it contains two whole pages devoted to Akron. Akron as we all know is the Capital of the Deaf in more senses than one and should have a page, but why the two rival factions. One page decorated up for Goodyear and written by a Goodyear man with nary a word for Firestone. The other page all puffed up with Firestone doings and nothing about Goodyear.

I have lived in Akron and I know that there is not a bit of hard feelings between the deaf people of the two plants, but why on earth can't the writer at one plant hand his friend over across the city a bouquet once in a while. But, I also notice that there is no Akron column in the JOURNAL any more except for an occasional few lines by Akronites, and with all the brains of the deaf in Akron, not one of them has the "guts" to get down and write for their town at least once a week. That's a pretty hard word for it, but it carries just the meaning I want to imply, and that is that in spite of all their brains not one of them is man enough to keep the outside world informed through the JOURNAL as to what Akron is doing. Come on you two Loozy Bugs, Martin and Schowe, get some body to write for the JOURNAL. We have been there, and would like to be there now but can't, still like to read about what the ones that are there are doing.

We also noticed that the page we most wanted to read in the Silent Worker was missing, yes missing entirely. It was missing so badly that we did not bother to read any of the rest of the paper after giving the two Akron pages the O. O. The page that we miss so badly is the one conducted under the heading Nadfratists, and edited by our old friend Jimmie Meagher. What's matter with ole Jimmie say, is he sick, or just gone back to Akron, where he says he feels too darn full of rubber and benzine when he gets out of the factory to write. We like Jimmie's writing just about as much as anybody's on earth, except perhaps for Old Pater B. Kyne, and when you compare anybody with the author of "Private Cappy Ricks," "Kindred of the Dust," and other such tales, you are honoring that unit of humanity some, believe me. Any now lets hope that Jimmie hasn't gone off and left us for good. Cause if he has, then we guess we might as well lay down and go west too.

The many friends of Mrs. Fred.

Hooten were greatly shocked to learn of her untimely death, which occurred one day last week in the City Hospital of Dallas, from blood poisoning. She leaves behind her a loving husband and two children. We all sympathize with Mr. Hooten during his time of great sorrow.

W. Harris, who hails from Alabama, is the latest Frat to settle in Dallas. He came down from Valley View, Texas, where he had been farming for quite a while, and is now in the employ of a harness manufacturing concern in Dallas.

Sah Goodrich, of Veda, was in Dallas for a new hours one day last week, having stopped off to see his old friends, and classmates, Fee Griggs and Briscoe Kolp. Sam is one of the best farmers in the Wichita Falls District, even if he does say so himself. He was on a visit to his old chum, Robert Camp.

Chas. Jamison and Oscar Harrison, the leading tailor and shoe-maker respectively of their home town, Whitesboro, came down to Dallas, Sunday, in Charley's Tin-Lizzie. Charley had intended to stay over until Monday and have a delivery body put on "Liz," but it began to rain and he was afraid to stay over on account of the bad roads.

Charley has the most up to date tailor shop of any town in the north part of Texas, and always has all the trade he can handle, and also all that his two assistants can handle.

Mr. W. A. Barnes, retired President of Dallas Division, No. 63, N. F. S. D., who has been very ill with the Flu, lately has sufficiently recovered to be up and around the house, but does not dare to venture outdoors yet.

W. J. Capps, Gallaudet, ex-'20, was a visitor with his classmates Fee Griggs and Troy Hill over last Sunday. It is also rumored that there is some other attraction in Dallas that brings the "Hayseed" back to Dallas ever and anon. We wonder who she is.

Mr. William Thompson, of Waxahachie, Texas, dropped in Sunday to attend to his Frat dues and other minor matters.

J. N. Fitzhugh was also in town Sunday. His home is in Lancaster, and when he passed us a card asking us to vote for him as Treasurer of Dallas County, we nearly had a fit, but closer reading of the card shows it to be for his brother, so that lets J. N. out. We would advise him to stay out of politics, for the next few generations at least.

Among the visitors at Sunday School last Sunday were the following: Mrs. Oscar Harrison and daughter, of Whitesboro, Texas, Mrs. Hosea Hooper and two daughters, of Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. Hooper's hearing sister, Also Eugene Pratt, of Akron, Ohio, and B. Whitlock, of Ft. Worth.

Mrs. Hooper and two children left Thursday for Akron, where they will rejoin Hosea. Hosea has been living the gay life of a grass widower ever since his wife came home last December, and believe us, Mrs. Hooper will find some house cleaning up to her when she gets back home. We know, because we were a grass widower ourselves once upon a time, and what the old woman said to us when she got back—well, you know what I mean.

We noticed in the Silent Worker an article by Grover Farquhar, an old Texas boy, raves about the cold weather in Akron. Grover, we thought you knew what it was to get cold. Up there in Akron the cold is nothing compared to the way weather treats a man down here. For instance last Sunday was a pretty day up until about 6 P.M., then along came one of those Oklahoma, Texas Northerners, that makes you feel like your body was full of holes and the wind went right on through you. When the weather gets like that, then it's time to rave about coldness. The next morning when we got out of bed we almost forgot where we were at, and started to go down to the Goodyear Plant and build a few tires, and maybe chew the rag with old Chet You and Abe Martin a while; but then we realized it wasn't Akron at all, but just a darn, Longhorn blizzard that was eating us up.

Think this will do for the time being, so I'll blow out the electric lights and crawl in and under.

T. E. HILL.

ALBANY.

While weather conditions were so severe that comparatively few people ventured out January 31st, the participants in the sleigh ride party under the management of Harold McQuade were small, but they were enthusiastic nevertheless. A spread of unusual fineness and social intercourse enlivened the occasion as a concluding feature. The affair was an unqualified success, and Chairman McQuade and his friends are unanimous in their determination that it be made an annual event. Harold McQuade filled the role of toastmaster in the suave and satisfactory manner that marks his activities in all his social affairs. He first presented the president of Albany Division, No. 51, N. F. S. D.

Fred Lloyd in his remarks referred to the fact that he had appointed Harold McQuade and that he had made good. He elaborated at some extent upon the N. F. S. D., as we found it, and his conclusions reached from observations are highly complimentary to the organization.

Arthur T. Bailey was the next speaker. He outlined the history of the social life in Albany and the development of the local council in its five years of existence. He dwelt also on the activities of the order in social work, emphasizing the fact that it is no less active and effective in the work of doing good.

Howard Bedell was then "heard." He said that although he had nothing of importance to say, he would consider Edward Kleir as the Sultan.

Harry Barnes was then "herald." What he said is not worth repeating here.

Albert Haynes surprised those present with every word he said.

Mrs. Richard Guith upheld the notion that the anti-frats still exist. We clip the following from the Troy Record of Feb. 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dickinson of 531 Fourth Street yesterday observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Last evening a very pleasing reception was held in honor of the event, at which many relatives were present. Mrs. Dickinson was born in New York state, while Mr. Dickinson was born in England. They have been residents of Troy for thirty years, and during that time formed the acquaintance of a large circle of friends. Seven children of a family of twelve are living, as well as twelve grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson were presented with $50 in gold. They were also the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

Miss Ruth Mendelson entertained at luncheon recently. Those favored with invitations included Messrs. Arthur T. Bailey, Edward Kleir, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sack and Mr. and Mrs. John Kooper.

Mrs. Fred Lloyd, of Amsterdam, has recovered from her recent illness and is at her work again at Fowkes Bros. and Co.

Mary and Helen Lloyd are among those who have not escaped the prevailing influenza.

The members of Albany Division No. 51, N. F. S. D., will hold their fifth Annual Masque in their rooms, on State Street, April 10th, and from all indications this affair will be one of the largest successes in the history of the lodge.

The committee having charge of the masque consists of Harold McQuade, chairman, Arthur T. Bailey, and Edward Kleir.

He's true to God who's true to man:

That wrong is also done to us,
And they are slaves most base,
Whose love of right is for themselves,
And not for all the race."

The daily papers of last week contained the following item:—

"Although he is deaf and dumb, Jacques Cohen, twenty-one years old, will be released from Ellis Island under a bond of $500 and admitted to this country. Orders to that effect have come from Washington.

"Cohen came here with father, mother, sister and two brothers, and all passed the immigration requirements except him. He is an expert tailor. It was decided that $500 would be enough guarantee that he would not become a public charge."

The mere fact of deafness and inability to speak vocally should not be considered a satisfactory reason for deporting an immigrant. If a deaf-mute measures up to all the other requirements, it is unjust to refuse him admission. The deaf as a class are not dependent upon the community for support and care. On the other hand they are invariably good, law-abiding, industrious citizens. By their skill and productivity they add to the wealth of the community.

The large corporations that employ them will vouch for the fact that they make less noise and prove more efficient than the average hearing man. Some of the deaf immigrants of other days have proved themselves experts in various lines of manufacture, and quite a large proportion of them are paid the highest wages, because of the possession of extraordinary skill.

It is true that their educational development requires special schools and the enlistment of teachers of special knowledge, but after their school course is finished there is little to criticize and much to admire in their exemplary modes of living.

The epidemic of Influenza seems to have departed—at least in the section of the country bordering on the Atlantic. But "beware the Ides of March." Sudden changes of weather may be looked for at this season of the year, and a mild day on two does not justify anyone in discarding comfortable clothing. Keep the feet dry and warm and the body warmly clothed, and the danger of sickness is reduced to a minimum.

OUR readers will find in this issue the tentative program of the Centennial Celebration of the founding of the Philadelphia Institution. As outlined, the distinguished graduates of the school seem to have been overlooked. However, we may find that remedied later on. The crowning glory of any school is the success of its graduates.

A GREAT deal of interesting news matter is crowded out this week, because of the double portion incidental to late letters last week, which were delayed in delivery through the Washington's Birthday holiday falling on Monday. All the postponed news that will "keep" will be printed next week.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE.

The epidemic of the influenza which had taken hold of Gallaudet during the past three weeks is apparently on the wane, and nearly all cases have been discharged from the hospital rooms. Dr. Hotchkiss, who was laid up for a considerable time, was well enough during the latter part of last week to see his classes.

Prof. Hughes was absent from Kendall Green during the week end of February 21st, having taken a run up to New York City to make a personal expression of condolence to an old friend and former classmate, Lapides, '13, whose fiancée passed away following an attack of the influenza. Aronovitz, '23, has also been absent from College. Illness of his mother necessitated his presence at his home in Kentucky.

If the talk manifested among the upperclassmen is permitted to crystallize into actual performance, Gallaudet may be seen competing in one or two intercollegiate track meets this year. There is much talk of having the Buff and Blue entered in the Catholic University meet on March 13th, and also in the Intercollegiate "classic" at the University of Pennsylvania on May 1st. While the material on hand is not over abundant there are three or four men who appear capable of holding their own in such exclusive circles. The hustling qualities of Davies, '20, is expected to take care of the managerial worries, and our normal student, Leslie Brown, who has had some experience at Dartmouth, is being considered for coach.

The last meeting on the program of the Literary Society for the second term was furnished by the Senior Class on February 20th, and the result of their efforts was a very interesting night for all those who attended. The usual reading and declamation were given, the first by Mr. Courge and the latter by Mr. Stevens, but instead of a debate the Seniors presented a mock trial. The last was the "big noise" of the evening. From the moment the clerk of court called upon twelve "good" men from the audience to serve as jurors, till the Judge declared the proceedings at an end, the trial was a series of laughs. The plot centered around a breach of promise suit brought by Miss Volumina McGreedy against Mr. George Merrythought. With a total disregard for or ignorance of all Blackstone, Mr. Red Top, lawyer for the defendant, launched on a bitter tirade against women in general, showing how they have used their sex to cheat justice, and pictured his client as one of the down-trodden "mere men," who was being made the victim of the wiles of a woman. On the other hand, the counsel for the prosecution presented his case with a wealth of tangible evidence in the form of love letters, boxes of candy and pieces of wearing apparel, all of which it was claimed came from the defendant. Seeing proved more patent than hearing, apparently, for the jurors brought in a verdict of guilty, whereupon the judge proceeded to sentence Mr. Merrythought "to hang by the neck till dead." The appearance of a twin brother of the defendant held up the court for a time, and finally cleared up the mystery when it was shown that the brother was the one who had written all these letters. He had returned to claim the lady as his own.

The afternoon services in Chapel Hall were given by President Hall. He selected for his subject "George Washington—Patriot." After reviewing the life of our great national hero—a story told and retold until it has been worn threadbare, yet a story that never wanes in its romance—Dr. Hall spoke briefly on patriotism. It is men like Washington, said the speaker, that our nation has most need of in these troubled times; men who are willing to sacrifice self in the interest of their country, just as our first President had done. In conclusion Dr. Hall impressed upon the undergraduates that no matter how small and insignificant their parts may be, they are distinct parts in the life of the country and they are expected to perform them patriotically.

ATHLETICS

Gallaudet Co-eds 17 War Risk 26

On February 21st, for the third time in as many starts, the Co-eds were forced to lower their colors to the opposition, as they proved no match for the strong War Risk aggregation, losing 17 to 36. But to the credit of the Gallaudet girls it must be said that they put up a game fight against big odds; they were playing on a foreign court and against a team that was the pick of the several thousand Government employees of the War Risk Bureau. Lack of accurate shooting seemed to be the Co-eds' worst fault, as outside of Miss Flenner, who was the star of the day and who scored 16 of the 17 points, none enjoyed any familiarity with the baskets. The odd number of the score came as a result of Miss Linton's attempt from the foul line.

The line-up and summary:

Gallaudet 30. George Washington 24.

Gallaudet took sweet revenge on George Washington University in the return game on Kendall Green on February 21st, and won, 30 to 24. The Buff and Blue's playing was a mixture of some good playing in the first half, when they amassed a lead of ten points, followed by a lot of lackadaisical work in the second half, when they all but lost the contest. Then, with the score 24 all, they came back in the extra five minutes period, and by a whirlwind finish won by six points.

The work of the Buff and Blue in the first half was somewhat of a surprise, as Downes and Bouchard were on the disability list and Gallaudet was considered lucky if it could win. But they completely outplayed the visiting team and appeared safely entrenched on the winning column. But in the second half, Gilman, the visiting captain, brought his team to even terms with his accurate shooting and then into the lead with a free toss. The score was then 24 to 23. But Wilson saved the game for Gallaudet at this stage, by scoring the point that tied the score from the fifteen foot line.

The teams went at it hammer and tongs the extra period. La Fountain uncorked three goals from difficult angles and brought victory to the Buff and Blue. While the spectacular shooting of La Fountain was largely instrumental in the victory, the playing of Capt. Wilson on the defensive must not be overlooked as he was every where on the floor, always ready to break up the attack of the opposition.

BALTIMORE, MD.

On Sunday, February 22d, the members of the Jewish Deaf Society of the Monumental City were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Newman at their beautiful residence in Frost Park. The weather happened to be disagreeable on that day, but all who were there braved it. All kinds of games were played and handsome prizes were awarded to the winners. A very pleasant time was passed during which a generous luncheon was served. Judging from the comments of the visitors, it is said that was the best treat of the season since the Society's organization.

Among these present were Mr. Mrs. Neuman, Dr. and Mrs. Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. C. Coblenzer and little daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hallem, Mr. and Mrs. Engel, Mrs. D. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hallem, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kauffman, Mr. and Mrs. Mooney, Mr. Leo Neuman, Miss B. Neuman, Miss Rachel Hecht, Miss Louise Lesser, Mrs. Fannie Gladstone, Mr. Michael Weinstein.

LECTURE

The Deaf-Mutes' Union League Committee wishes to announce that Prof. Thomason, of the Fanwood School, lately officer in the American Expeditionary Force, will lecture on his war experiences in Europe at the rooms of the D. M. U., 143 West 125th St., on Wednesday evening, March 10th, at 8 P.M. The admission charge will be 25 cents.

FANWOOD.

Almost one hundred percent of the pupils returned from the four-day holidays on the 24th of February, and everyone reported having a very pleasant time, and as far as we know no one has contracted any serious illness while at home.

Among the important affairs held during this time in outside circles, the one of the greatest interest to the Fanwoodites was the basket ball game between the New Jersey School for the Deaf and the Fanwood A. A. Team. The game was held in Robbins High School in Trenton, and a fair-sized crowd of both normal and deaf persons were present, the former being attracted by the game between the girls' quint representing the High School and the deaf girls of the New Jersey School. Speaking of the game between the girls will necessitate a word upon the remarkable ability in pass work and shooting shown by both teams. Having seen their skill, we have no doubt but that great businesses will some day be controlled by women.

The big game started at about 9 P. M., and let me say in the beginning that the extremely poor lighting facilities were responsible in a large measure for a number of poor plays, passes and shooting. The game was divided up into four periods, each lasting ten minutes; not any period brought out excellent play for either side, and the scoring was close and slow, but in the end the Fanwood boys came out the long end of the horn, by the score of 18-8. In complimenting the players, it will be fair to say that each man on both teams did the best that could be expected under the circumstances.

Score and summary are appended below:

Fanwood A. A. (18)	vs.	N. J. S. D. (8)
Cattanchan	L. F.	Howard
Malloy	R. F.	Agnes
Whalen	C.	Whalen
Cassell	L. G.	Davidson
Stecker	R. G.	Jerrill
Summary 1—Field Goals—Fanwood A. A. Cattanchan, 2; Stecker, 4. Foul Goals—N. J. S. D. Davidson, 3. Foul Goals—Davidson, 2. Time of fourth, 10 minutes. Referee N. O. Nothing of Trenton. Timekeeper—Hansen, of N. J. S. D.
Substitution—Skidelsky for Cattanchan. The score of the first two periods was 8 to 2 in favor of the visitors.

The age old prediction that if the groundhog fails to see his shadow when he emerges from his winter domicile in February, there will follow six weeks of disagreeable and wintry weather is correct, as evinced by the slush and mush on the parade ground, where, but a few days ago, so many rosy faces went by on coasters. But to relieve the monotonous situation of doing nothing, Cadet Adjutant Jampol, Cadet Sergeant E. Mufeldt and a few other aspirants to the stage, go through a number of plays and comedies (which they originate themselves) at the lower end of the study hall, much to the amusement of the audience, which generally compose everyone in the room.

In the role of stage manager we find Cadet Sergeant Skidelsky an expert. Anna Hoffman is a close follower of the fashions, and now exhibits a "Castle Cut" in true bobbed hair style. Permit us to say that it is an aid to beauty.

Cadet Lieutenant John Uhl is eagerly looking forward to the time when the base-ball season opens (he will have a long look), as he is daily seen practicing with the Indian Clubs and throwing an imaginary ball at an invisible catcher.

Among a number of hobbies "owned" by the cadets, we have recently found the one belonging to Cadet Captain B. Cohen, who professes to be interested in Shaving Creams. He can argue for hours on the merits and disqualifications of this kind and that.

Cadet Sergeant Tom Whalen wishes to be considered the fly-weight champion of Fanwood, as he has met and overcome all opposition from various other contenders.

Cadet Julius Farliser, the new cybalyist of the band, is now making rapid progress in mastering the tuba, and he will soon be a good player, as Band Master Edwards and Cadet Corporal Lichtblau are daily instructing him.

The record for reading the most books and magazines throughout the year should be awarded to Cadet Harold Miller, who is seldom seen without a book or two for company.

A number of members of the Fanwood Athletic Association are now getting themselves into-shape by running and various other forms of exercise, to be thoroughly trained for the coming field events in the 22nd Regiment Armory, on April 17th. The great number of those now in training will be gradually reduced until those that show the greatest ability are left, and these will be sent as representatives of the F. A. A.

The band is now practicing a new melody—"Dardanelle," an echo from the East, and it is really very "East" in sound.

The Adrastian Society recently acquired new symbols of membership—in the form of gold pins, with the Society colors and name engraved thereon, and Miss Nadine

Lavond] wishes to announce through this column that former members, who have graduated, are welcome to obtain a pin, and may do so by communicating with her.

The Institution recently lost a valued book-keeper, by the resignation of Mr. E. Hollander, who held the position for several years. He resigned to take up work of a religious character.

On Saturday evening, February 28th, Prof. Frank Thomason's 6th Oral Class entertained the members of the F. L. A. with a literary program in the chapel. The readings and debate were well rendered and showed the careful forethought and preparation the class had given to them. There were four separate and distinct plays, and to describe them all here would require a large amount of space, so we will append a program and let the reader get a general idea of them all. Each actor played his part to perfection, and all deserve credit, as well as Prof. Thomason.

Dr. Fox occupied the platform Sunday morning, and gave a talk on "Worry." He was forceful in his advice to us to let worry alone, especially now, when we are young and not fitted to assume the cares and responsibilities that give rise to worry. There will be plenty of time later to assume that, and so let us make our school days as peaceful and happy as possible. The choir, under the leadership of Jessie Garrick, rendered "The Flower of Liberty" very gracefully.

In the afternoon Prof. Stevenson conducted services, and he introduced to us Mr. Webster Dobyne, of Arkansas, who was a teacher here thirteen years ago, but has since been admitted to the bar. Mr. Dobyne addressed us in signs, and spoke of things pertaining to educational value, real citizenship and faith in God. His signs were clear and concise, and at the end of his talk he drew applause from all in chapel.

LOSSES TO FANWOOD

"Twelve cadets from the Fanwood Military School, the New York City Institute for the Deaf at Washington Heights, were the guests of the local school for the deaf preceding the basket-ball game between the Fanwoods and the Silent Workers last evening.

"The cadets were striking figures in their military uniforms, and their appearance excited much favorable comment. An army officer is in charge of all drills at the school and his orders are given by the sign language. The cadets seem to have no difficulty in following these and show the result of the snappy military training given them. The school has its own band, most of the members of which are mute, as well as deaf. Their musical training requires much patient effort, but many of the pupils become accomplished musicians and remarkably accurate in time and pitch.

"Last night's basket-ball game was played at the Carroll Robbins School, the visitors winning by the score of 18 to 9.

A large number of the pupils attended the Saturday afternoon performance at the Audubon Theatre, where was shown Nazimova in "Stronger than Death." Many of the pupils noticed a resemblance of Nadine Lavond to the actress, and she felt very proud of the fact, and said maybe she would be an actress when she graduated. Maybe!

Next week will be printed a list of winners of the baby basket-ball tournament, which is the third tournament held this winter.

"AL"

THE SUNFLOWER STATE

February 2d, Bert Gibson, of Altoona, went to Chanute in his Maxwell car, and took J. C. Hummer, of Chanute, to Iowa, where they spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Butterbaugh. Mr. Gibson staid at the Hummer home over night. Messrs. Gibson and Hummer visited the C. H. Moriarty Wholesale Grocery Company, which the writer and brother are connected with. After dinner he left for his home, and arrived at 4 o'clock on account of the muddy road, while it rained.

Mrs. Vernon L. Butterbaugh and son, of Iowa, have come home from Omaha, Neb., where they visited with their relatives and friends for the past few weeks. Mr. Butterbaugh is a happy man.

A few Sundays ago, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hummer visited the writer and wife.

Sunday evening, February 8th, the writer and wife were guests of Miss Edna Iman, of Chanute, and also her parents. They found that her father had to be confined to his house for two weeks on account of a broken tendon in his leg. He has recently returned to his job as yardmaster of the Santa Fe Railroad Company.

A few words of information in a letter postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

H. A. D. NOTES

Dr. Herbert Goldstein, Rabbi of the Institutional Synagogue, sermonized at the Friday evening services, February 20th, on "Happiness"—a theme sufficiently pithy, though brief, to place the members in a happy frame of mind.

Rev. A. J. Amateau was the last speaker of the month. He was scheduled to talk on "The Dilemma of a Preacher," but there appeared to be no "dilemma" beyond the necessity of being pressed to announce a proper subject at the 11th hour. He acquitted himself admirably on the topic of "Ignorance and Superstition," pointing out its attendant evils and the only sure cure: More knowledge. Mr. Max M. Lubin will address the members next Friday evening, March 7th, on "The Feast of Purim."

The "S. R. O." sign was displayed at the Communal Centre on Sunday evening, February 22d, for it is not the least bit of exaggeration to say that it was literally packed from "cellar to garret" as never before. About 600 persons taxed the seating capacity of the auditorium to witness the exhibition of N. A. D. films, on which occasion our new Motion Picture machine was used for the first time. The following pictures were shown:

Memories of Old Hartford—by Dr. John B. Hotchkiss.

Memorial Address at tomb of Garfield—by Mr. Willis Hubbard.

The Death of Minnehaha—by Mrs. Mary W. Erd.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address—by Dr. Thos. F. Fox.

Signing of the Charter of Gallaudet College—by Dr. Draper.

Interspersed were several films of educational character, depicting the habits of underground creatures. Acrobatic stunts on the screen, and several well executed folk dances by a bevy of toe-artists (Misses Anna Brenner, Beatrice Osserman, Eva Todres and Julia Gleisner) added a touch of "vaudeville" to the occasion. The next Motion Picture Night will be held on Sunday evening, March 14th, when it is expected to have other N. A. D. films shown.

Election of Officers was the principal object of the Business Meeting held on Tuesday evening, February 24th, with the following results: President, Max M. Lubin (re-elected); 1st Vice President, Emanuel Souweire; 2d Vice President, Ludwig Fischer; Secretary, Mrs. Anna Swayd; Treasurer, Moses W. Loew (re-elected.) The Annual Meeting and Installation takes place on March 23d.

The Ladies' Committee of the H. A. D. "proposed" that a Leap Year Party be held on Saturday evening, February 28th. And held it was, the masculine gender notwithstanding. About 350 "guests" were present to witness the mock-marriage ceremony contracted between "Miss" Henry Hecht and Mr. Irving Marks. The "bride" was superbly gowned, a costly Axminster rug doing duty as a bridal train. With just the right touch of rouge on her cheeks, a dash of powder on the nose, properly plastered and kalsomined, she marched jauntily to the centre of the floor, where stood "Rabbi" Lubin, duly fortified with the latest edition of the New York Telephone Directory and other accessories, solemnly waiting for the groom. Leaning on the arms of his "father" (Mr. Kenner), the groom appeared at last, the most gloomy looking wretch imaginable. Was it the H. C. of L. gnawing at his heart, or what? We know not, and "Rabbi" Lubin didn't appear to care either, for he unceremoniously tied the "knot" with a good, strong rope, and shoved them off into the turbulent sea of matrimony. This did not deter several other couples from presenting themselves as "candidates." But we are not at liberty to mention names. Just watch for forthcoming announcements of betrothals.

The following prizes were given for several games and guessing contests: Miss Anna Brenner, salt and pepper set, M. Kremen, who held No. 15 ticket, a pair of No. 15 soft collars, Belle Behrens, pony cart and kiewpie. A drawing for a silk waist, donated by Mrs. M. L. Kenner, was won by Miss Sadie Shustack.

Ice-cream and cake, dancing and general chit-chat, aided the flight of the hours until it was well after 1 P.M. before anyone attempted to think of such a trifling thing as sleep. Great credit is due to Mrs. A. A. Cohen and her able assistants for the culmination of a very pleasant affair.

Mrs. Frank O. Lee, of Syracuse, N. Y., has been a guest of her school-mate at the Central New York Institution, Mrs. Edward Loh, and was at the Frat Ball in Brooklyn. Later they visited Fanwood, and also went sightseeing in the city.

DETROIT.

National Association of the Deaf—Convention, 1920.

News items of interest to the deaf of Michigan may be addressed to Mrs. C. C. Colby, 715 E. Jefferson Avenue, Detroit. Subscriptions will be received and forwarded to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL.

Yes, you are doing it—saving your money for the trip to Detroit, August 9th, 1920. The Local Committee is making splendid preparations for your entertainment.

Come out and see how they are putting Detroit across, the mayor and several hundred earnest, public-spirited men, representing almost every phase of the city's life and activities, were pledged to concerted effort for civic betterment.

The raised safety zone constructed and placed in operation at the corner of Woodward Avenue and State Street, is handy for you in order your waiting for street cars might stand thereon, and not run the danger of being knocked for three bases by a passing motorist.

When down on Detroit River to Bob Lo, you will see the River Rouge Bridge that is in a legal debate between the Illinois and Detroit. Take a steamer down to Tashmoo, you will see along the shore the homes of Grosse Pointe millionaires.

You need not fear for the high cost of living, there will be fresh milk in plenty to meet all your desires. The Detroit cooking is fine and smells so good.

Maurice Maeterlinck, Belgian philosopher, dramatist and poet, who roamed the world seeking the blue bird, spent a short time in Detroit, and has reported at the informal reception given by the Detroit Athletic Club, that he likes Detroit best, saying "Here every one is quiet; they talk in modulated tones. And there is real music. I had my first real dinner here."

Washington predicted that Detroit would be "the Commercial Center of the West." You would better read what Washington thought of Detroit in the Magazine Section of Sunday's News (February 22d.) The article is by Marjorie Elaine Porter and is illustrated by Will Fitzgerald.

The Board of Directors of the Michigan Association of the Deaf, of which Mr. Geo. F. Tripp is President, E. M. Bristol Secretary, and F. M. Kaufman Treasurer, have sent out an appeal with pledge card to each Michigan resident, to help the Flint Committee of the National Association of the Deaf swell the Convention fund. The fund is being raised to entertain the Convention of the N. A. D., which will be held in Detroit, August 9 to 14, 1920. They want to do Michigan proud. The appeal says as follows:

WE WANT YOUR AID.

Roll up your sleeves and join in the good work.

We want to give the American deaf a splendid convention in Detroit next summer. Michigan is a great state, and we want to show that she has the best bunch of deaf in any state. Your are one of the bunch, and we feel sure that you will be glad to help make the convention successful. Failure of entertaining the convention in a royal way would bring a bluish shame to the deaf all over the State.

Some of the deaf have contributed as much as $25, and are doing still more. Of course, not everyone can give so much as that, but whatever amount is given, if it is the most you can afford, will be very much appreciated.

If you should be unable to send your contribution in one payment, monthly payments could be made.

Kindly fill out the accompanying Pledge Card and mail it to the Secretary, E. M. Bristol, 623 E. Third Street, Flint, Mich. All contributions and payments of pledges should be made to him. They should be all in July 15, 1920.

We would appreciate very much if you should meet any one to whom this appeal has not been sent and solicit his or her contribution.

GEORGE F. TRIPP, President
E. M. BRISTOL, Secretary

Springing sensations at the Socials have become a Detroit N. A. D. Branch habit, but perhaps the greatest one introduced is the appearance of the airplane at the D. A. D. Hall, Saturday evening, Feb. 14th. In fact when you look at it you are immediately delighted with it. Judging from the crowds that have gathered about it and the interest displayed in it, the airplane is considered very fine in its design. But it is only a toy—1½ feet wide and 3 feet in length, made by Daniel I. Whitehead for the Feb. 14th Box Social. It was auctioned for $76.00 and then presented it to the Branch. It will be on exhibition during the Convention. There is another one—a ship of same size. The deaf of the world should come and see them. The Box Social of Feb. 14th was a financial success and the profit will be reported in the next issue. Much credit is due D. I. Whitehead, Chairman, and his assistants, for their continuous zeal. Many beautiful "Leap year" lunch boxes, donated by the fair sex, were auctioned for over five dollars. D. I. Whitehead was the auctioneer and did his bit wonder fully, and he was assisted by Wm. Cornish. Many useful articles donated by Detroit deaf are to be auctioned at the next Social, because there was no time to spare that evening. Every body worked like bees until the clock struck twelve. They went home tired but happy.

In one corner stood two ladies; Mrs. McLachlan and Mrs. Jones, selling grapejuice, and it was donated by Mrs. McLachlan, adding the money to the fund. A bunch of "Special Delivery" letters were distributed at twelve cents a letter.

A leap year tableau, arranged by the Burrough girls under the direction of Ruth Kirby, was excellent and every body enjoyed it. Hot coffee and sandwiches were served, as usual under the direction of Ben. Beaver. He is one of the willing workers for the better and greater Convention. Thank you. The Valentine decorations were much in evidence, and novelties carried out the spirit of the evening. The floor Committee was made up of: D. I. Whitehead, Chairman, Wm. Cornish, Mrs. Colby, Miss Colby, Treasurer of the evening, Gonnipill, Beaver, Schneider, Miss Garnett, Mrs. Rheiner, Mrs. Robins, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Scally, Helen Warsaw, Mrs. McSparrin, ticket-taker, and Mrs. McLachlan, Chairman. Whitehead, after the close of the auction, was roundly complimented.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, D. A. D., is open to all good-standing deaf of Detroit and near by. Don't stay away or sit at home and hold your hands.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nash, of Grand Rapids, are in town visiting their son. They were at the Valentine Box Social of February 14th. They are pleasant conversationalists.

The suit case of donated articles, under the direction of Mrs. Rheiner and Miss Garnett, for the social of February 14th, are to be pulled at the next social—each article has a long string and a price ticket attached.

Lent has ushered in the prediction for a social season in Detroit for the benefit of the Convention fund will have to be fulfilled.

The plans were made for the celebration of St. Patrick's, which will be held at the hall of the D. A. D. for the benefit of the Convention fund. The Committee are planning unusual artistic effects in the decorations.

Plans are now under way for an annual Easter Celebration at the Parish House of St. John's Episcopal Church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild.

Mrs. Pearl Tenney and youngest son are home in Detroit from Battle Creek, where they have been since February 7th. Iver Tenney, who was taken ill in Detroit a day before New Year, was taken to Battle Creek Sanitarium for treatment. After an operation he was improving and was about to be up. But pneumonia set in, and he died Saturday afternoon at 1:10, February 7th. A private funeral was held on Tuesday, February 10th, in Battle Creek. Their oldest son, Ivan Tenney, who is 21 years of age, has a position as a ticket agent for the Grand Trunk R. R. in Battle Creek. The deaf community send their deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Remember the date for a thrilling lecture given by Mr. Collins S. Sawhill, of Cleveland, Ohio, at the hall of D. A. D., Saturday evening, March 13th, for the benefit of the N. A. D. fund. It is under the direction of three frats. The thirtieth and Leap Year at that. We need have no fear that the day will bring ill luck. Records show that the thirtieth of the last ten years have been nothing whatever out of the ordinary.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ulrich have sent out invitations for an elaborate dinner at their home, of 602 Garland Avenue, Sunday, February 22d, in honor of Mrs. Ulrich's soldier brother, who returned home in Canada from overseas. He is now visiting with them in Detroit and is expected to return home Monday, February 23d.

Mrs. Ralph Huhn has the sympathy of her friends in the death of her sister and brother-in-law, who left five little children.

Oloffe P. Chalfant, of Flint, desires the writer to say that he was at the ball of January 17th, in Detroit, and he enjoyed the entertainment and liked the "City of the Straits," though it was his first visit in this city. He is from the South and likes the North better, and is now employed at the Chevrolet Motor Company in Flint.

The Detroit young set gave a brilliant reception in honor of five couples at the hall of the D. A. D. Sunday evening, February 15th. After the reception several tables were set with bountiful eats.

The young couples were introduced as Baron and Baro:ess McSparrin, Count and Countess Huegel, and Duke and Duchess Schlein. Mr. and Mrs. Mesner and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick were unable to be present. A beautiful set of six silver knives, forks and spoons, was presented to Baron and Baroness McSparrin, and a large leather seated mission rocker to Count and Countess Huegel.

Messrs. Ben and Ralph Beaver and Mr. and Mrs. Herring composed the committee who arranged the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Stutsman and two little girls were among the guests enjoying meeting Illinois products and friends.

The talk is general in Detroit that the deaf generally do not favor the mail vote for officers. Several hoped that some arrangement should be made at the Detroit Convention to change in this respect.

Mrs. W. Boylan died of pneumonia, February 11th, at their home on Iroquois Avenue, and Mr. Boylan is critically ill. The deaf community send their sympathy to the family.

KALAMAZOO NOTES BY M. M. T.

The N. A. D. Branch met with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Taylor as leaders, Saturday evening, Feb. 21st. There were stories and poems of Washington and Lincoln, after which refreshments were served by the ladies. Seventeen dollars were added to the Detroit Convention fund, making the grand total $177. The next meeting will be on March 13th, with Mr. and Mrs. John Voisine as leaders, and without doubt the $200 mark will be reached then. No further efforts will be made after that goal has been obtained; instead plans will be outlined to get the wherewithal to make the trip to Detroit and back. It is no idle talk when we say that no less than thirty will be there a whole week, and as the Kazoos are well known throughout the State as fighters, it would be well, indeed, for the office seekers to see them first.

Detroiters' names are being offered in the JOURNAL for new officers for the N. A. D. Mrs. C. C. Colby's name is suggested for 2d Vice-President, as if this is good enough for Michigan. Are you going to be content with a cheap place after all you have done to make this convention the greatest ever seen in its forty years of existence? Behind this supreme effort must be brains. Michigan will be satisfied with no less than the highest honor. Detroiters, name your man and we of Kalamazoo will stand by you undivided and to the last.

The above item was written by M. M. T., of Kalamazoo. I wish to announce that I have no desire for any office in the N. A. D., and I know of no man in Detroit who is looking for the Presidential chair. I have noticed that almost every one favors Dr. Cloud's re-election.

MRS. C. C. COLBY,
715 JEFFERSON AVE., EAST.

WHEELING

It has become Greater Wheeling with a population of 80,000, which will be published in the 1920 U. S. census report. Those several injunctions had been, for a long time, fought in State court; the last one dissolved a few days ago, against annexation, which gives the winning. It will soon undergo many municipal improvements on the $1,000,000 bond issue. The deaf voters are well-pleased and smile.

Mrs. J. C. Bremer is visiting Miss Emma Bartlett in Manington, W. Va., she having been gone since January 31st. She reports the "flu" epidemic there as very fearful.

Mr. William N. Herrold, who has been one of those "flu" victims for some time, is recuperating well, and resting from hard "chauffering," while his master, J. J. Holway, is sojourning in the far West for several weeks. William has four of his family laid up.

Charles Dean and his sister, David Roach and Nevil Marshall, stopped off here for brief time some time ago, en route to Fairmont, Huntington, and Parkersburg, W. Va. The latter is boosting for West Virginia Association of the Deaf Convention, which takes place in Romney, September 31, 4th and 5th.

Mr. William Halpin's sister, Mrs. Bell, an invalid for several years, is not expected to live long. He was called to the deathbed at midnight from his work in the Register printing office. She has always been of a jovial disposition, and he has our heartfelt sympathy.

On the evening of February 16th, John C. Bremer attended a banquet at St. Matthew's. There the Ohio Valley Churchmen's Club was organized. About one hundred were present. Pad and pencil were used with much aroused enthusiasm and stimulated zeal. The banquet speaker, Rev. George Atwater, of Akron, O., said that there were 25,000 West Virginians in the town, and also discussed with many others to perfect the organization.

Word is received here that a boy baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Conway, of Bellaire, O., on February 5th. Congratulations. A Mr. Skill, of Akron, O., was in Wheeling the other Saturday, to make change of trains for Pittsburgh, Pa.

The following is taken from the West Virginia Tablet:—

Mr. W. J. Lantry, of Wheeling, has our thanks for a copy of the Wheeling Daily News of the 3d inst., in which appeared a write up of "Mute Workmen" by Frederick J. Haskin, a syndicate press contributor of Washington, D. C. Mr. Haskin was once a teacher of the deaf in a midwestern school, and mingled with the deaf occasionally in Chicago in various ways.

Charles Weibner and family spent Sunday in Steubenville, O., recently. Mrs. Weibner has a sister living in that city, and this gives them a chance to get away from Wheeling for a few days' change.

Mr. George W. Lewis, deaf-mute foreman of a cigarette factory, down in South Wheeling, who was laid up with lagrippe for one week, has returned to it, half recovered, to lift up the shut down machinery. He came here last November from New York. He is a gentleman.

PITTSBURGH.

One Sunday afternoon, February 15th, a St. Valentine box social was given by Pittsburgh Council, No. 9, Knights of De l'Epee, at St. Philomena Hall.

It proved a successful affair all round. There was a large number of Pittsburgh's deaf in attendance, in spite of the zero weather which had been prevailing. The hall, however, was comfortable and games kept the company active, so there was no complaint of the cold.

One game, a new one, held the interest of the attendants. This was attempting to pierce a large red heart with an ice pick thrown a certain distance. As the heart was backed by a piece of tin, unknown to the contestants, it caused quite a rivalry and many failures.

Vincent Dunn finally accomplished the feat, and then a box containing prizes was revealed and the various articles were auctioned off to the highest bidder, Mr. Bloedel acting as auctioneer. The bidding was spirited and a goodly sum was realized for charitable purposes. Eight prizes were distributed. These had been donated by Mr. and Mrs. P. Gillooly. The affair was a success from every angle, for which the chairman of the committee in charge, Mr. Gillooly, was responsible. He was heartily congratulated for the success of the affair.

On Saturday evening, February 21st, the Pittsburgh Division, No. 36, N. F. S. D., held their annual banquet at the Seventh Avenue Hotel. This was a most pleasing and successful affair. There was a record number of "Frats" in attendance, who with their guests counted up to one hundred and ten, and quite a few holders of tickets were unable to be present. The fraternal spirit prevailed after the viands had been disposed of, and wit and wisdom sparked continually until a late hour. Mr. John Friend, president of the division, acted as toastmaster, and spoke on the history of the organization. Samuel Nichols illumined the subject, "Harmony between the Frats and the Ladies." Frank Leitner spoke on what the N. F. S. D. has accomplished for the families of deceased members. Mrs. E. Mer Havens made a strong plea for admittance of women as "Aux Frats," and she showed conclusively that women are needed assistants in every worthy project. Capt. A. C. Manning of the Edgewood School made an address on "Fraternity," and it was enthusiastically received.

Col. Sawhill, who fortunately was present, also made some pleasant remarks, and made every body feel good. After the talking was over dancing was indulged in by those who loved to "trip the light fantastic." Altogether this affair was a record breaker for Pittsburgh.

The Eighth Street R. P. Mission gave a Washington social, Monday evening, February 23d. They had previously sent out notice broadcast, that the deaf of whatever persuasion would be welcome, and as a result there was another record crowd assembled. Timely and appropriate addresses were made by Mr. McMaster, Mr. Leitner, Mr. Baker and others. Dr. Acheson, pastor of the Mission, made an interesting and instructive address, interpreted by Mrs. Keith, and then Miss Mary Clark wound up the program with gracefully signed declamation. General converse whiled away the rest of the evening, and the committee in charge, headed by Miss Clark, served refreshments, consisting of coffee and a variety of cake. There were probably one hundred present, so the committee had a busy time, but everybody was fully satisfied and glad they had been present.

Last year the Edgewood School basket ball five took everything that came their way, ending the season without a defeat. This year the team has been so badly crippled it has lost about as many games as it has won. Injuries or sickness has kept the leaders out of the game. On February 20th, the Firestone Silent Five took the game from the W. P. I. D., 42 to 26. Three of the Firestone boys were former pupils of the school, Slonaker, Hasson and Phillips, so our boys don't feel the defeat so badly. The Pittsburgh Silent Five also took the game, 33 to 21, February 23d, but they played the Institution scrubs.

In Memoriam.

In sad and loving memory of their best friend, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson of the Gallaudet Home, who died February 22d, 1920, the Misses Brewer send the following:—
Gone from among us. Oh! how we miss her,
Loving her dearly, her memory we will Never till life ends will we forget her—
Dear to our heart, in the place where she sleeps.

OHIO.

[News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 908 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.]

February 23, 1920.—A Father and Son banquet was given at the Young Men's Christian Association, corner of the Canal and Elm Streets, Cincinnati, O., last Saturday evening.

"A Noble Character is a father's best gift to his son." Dr. M. H. Wehrly, District Superintendent of the Methodist Church, offered Grace, Rev. Utten E. Read, Pastor acted as toastmaster. There was a large attendance. Appropriate toasts were given and responded to. Songs, addresses, and recitations added interest to the occasion. At the conclusion of the rendering of "Columbia Calls," in signs by Mr. Irven Burton, a pledge of allegiance taken by the deaf banqueters to our flag and to all methods for educating the deaf.

The hearts of the deaf men and their sons rose to high enthusiasm by the forcible rendering of the hymn, and a motion was made, seconded, and unanimously passed, to pledge allegiance to our flag again in this public manner, and also to pledge allegiance to the system of educating the deaf that shall maintain the beautiful ideographic and expressive sign language, along with the oral and aural methods, in all schools for the deaf everywhere.

The following pledges were taken:—

"I pledge allegiance to my flag, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all."

I also pledge allegiance to "all methods" for educating the deaf, and "wedded to none," that the coming generations of the deaf by reason of this kind of an education fitted for their specific individual needs, may become better, more useful and more capable citizens wherever they may be, and enjoy greater inward happiness and contentment.

Washington's birthday anniversary was honored at the School Monday. The teachers had been excused from all work until Tuesday morning. A union Sunday school service was conducted by Superintendent Jones.

The weather Monday was of the wet kind, which kept the pupils indoors. In the afternoon they had the usual holiday socials in the recreation halls, and in the evening were given a play in seven acts, under the title of James H. Smith and His Alter Ego, that was enjoyed by them.

Mrs. Mary E. Sutter (nee France) died on the 7th inst., in Mansfield, Ohio, of pneumonia following the influenza. She was forty-nine years, five months of age, and besides her husband, J. W. Sutter, leaves four sons and two daughters to mourn her departure.

Robert Swingle, a pupil of the school, was taken home last Friday to spend the week end with his parents, of Zanesville. He was taken ill suddenly a day or so later with double pneumonia, and died Wednesday of this week. He was a bright, sweet little boy, and his sudden taking off was a severe shock to his parents. This was his first year in school.

Mrs. McFadden, of this city, mother of Mrs. Wm. Mayer and Mrs. Bessie Cook, of McGrann, Pa., has gone to the latter place to assist in caring for Mr. Cook, who is reported to be seriously sick as a result of the influenza. We earnestly hope he will be adamant against this foe and be himself again soon.

Mr. Frank E. Philpott, a former Ohioan, but now making his home at Jacksonville, Florida, has favored us with a copy of the Florida School Herald, in which he conducted the Florida deaf department. Being a type of the first water he understands the business thoroughly. Just now he is boosting the F. A. D.—Florida Association of the Deaf—reunion which meets May 20th, 1920. He is Secretary-treasurer of it.

At the Ladies' Aid Society meeting last week, arrangements were made for its annual reception in the near future.

Orders were given for the repainting of some of the rooms at the Home under the care of the Society. Miss McBlane was elected to active membership of the Society.

Miss Cloa G. Lamson went up to Akron, Saturday last, and whooped up things for the N. A. D. by an address. She had nearly the whole deaf population of the city for an audience.

Columbus was visited by another cold snap in the early part of the week, and as a consequence much inconvenience had to be endured for want of sufficient gas pressure, or rather lack of gas. There are hogs among gas users as well as of food. According to the papers, the Gas Supplying Company that furnishes gas to the company here had allowed 22,786 cubic feet to each consumer. However, large consumers had used more than their allotted share thus placed, and hence families had to suffer. Those whose houses are lighted by gas have had to go back to oil lamps and candles during evenings, and as to preparing meals they had either to go without or go to eating houses.

Married.
Miss Gertrude Dupont Lusch, a daughter of Mrs. John Lusch, of Towanada, and P. William Gilmore, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gilmore, of Cherry township, were united in marriage in St. Peter's and Paul's Church at Towanada, N. Y., on January 28th. The bride is an accomplished young lady, a graduate from the Robert Packer Training School for nurses, at Sayre, while the groom is a prominent young business man, and at present is cashier of the First National Bank at Mildred. They were attended by Miss Theresa Lusch, a sister of the bride, who is a nurse in a hospital at Troy, N. Y., and Benjamin M. Carroll, of Orange, N. J. After a short wedding trip the happy couple will make their home in Dushore.
The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gilmore, who were married at the old Broad and Pine Streets School in Philadelphia forty-six years ago.
